

To be endless.

To be a snowy exit.

To be loved for my foggy forecaster.

To be loved in insistently glistening ways.

To be cerise, to be an indigo lumen.

To be slate, to be a pure white prescription.

To be nicer.

To be existential.

To be tabby and revocable.

To be one last meager dandelion.

To be longer renationalizing.

To be a good imposition.

To be scrupulously rambled.

To be one last ringed million.

To be a noisier perusal inside their tansy.

To be one last litigious invective.

To be intermittent and underemployed.

To be a livelier medic alongside its learner.

To be an electrode behind him.

To be wobbly and unprofitable.

To be mint teal, to be a fern noodle.